

Models separated only by initialisation diverge enormously and never stop being alignable

(a) incompatibility grows 1000 $\times$ across training

(b) but it stays coordinate --- there is no cliff

